

Prophecy and Will Given At Annual Jr.-Sr. Banquet

Douglas Young, senior class president, and Nancy Meahaffey read the "Last Will and Testament" at the Junior-Senior Banquet.

THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1965, being of unsound mind due to the nearness of finals, does bequeath to those poor souls remaining in Hockdale High School another year, those things which they have most enjoyed but feel they must surely be able to get along without in the future. Collectively they leave to the juniors their multitude of excuses for tardiness and absences, their joy in griping, their sorrow in classrooms during the spring, their respect for their teachers and their disdain for lower classmen, their full pockets of forged hall passes, their readiness to type tests for which there is an ever present market for copies, but most of all, and most importantly, they retain for their own use their ability to get things done and their anticipation of the future. The latter they need for their own use in the world which they soon leave to conquer. Each senior has searched his or her "soul" and leaves the following personal idiosyncracies:
